Michael,

I forgot to cc you on this email that I just sent to Oren Gatten, who sent us a recent amendment request for your Snake Valley NOI.

Hi Oren,

The first page of the Snake Valley NOI that you submitted looks good. Page 2 also needs to be corrected, since that is where Rolling Thunder R&D is listed as an LLC, and not a corporation. Let me know if there are questions.

Hi Oren,

Yes, I heard from SITLA. They confirmed that the lease has been assigned to Rolling Thunder R&D. The bond amount you specified is correct.

There is one item that needs to be addressed. The NOI identifies Rolling Thunder R&D as an LLC, and identifies Michael Terry as the manager of the LLC. The business license for the Rolling Thunder R&D entity number provided identifies the entity as a corporation, not an LLC. This will need to be changed before Division approval. Let me know if there are questions.

Hi Peter,

Just looking for information on the status of the Snake Valley Small mine. Have you received authorization from SITLA/Jerry Mansfield?

Also, the bond will be posted according to the following calculation, unless you know of an omitted line item or the per acre costs have been adjusted:

Small Mine less than 5 acres, 3 year escalation

	Cost	Quantity	Total Cost
1st Acre	$9,400	1	$9,400
Additional Acres	$5,200	3	$15,600
Portal	$2,000	1	$2,000
Total			$27,000

Thank you,

Oren S. Gatten
